Man Wounded In Roof Battle With Police Holds Own

Jameson Memorial Hospital Authorities See Chance For His Recovery

POLICE CHECKING DAWSON'S PAST

John William Dawson, burglar suspect, wounded in a desperate battle on the roof in back of the Household Finance Company at 115-117 East Washington street, Saturday night, continued to hold his own in his battle for life, and his chances of recovery today seemed growing brighter, it was announced at the Jameson Memorial hospital, where he is undergoing treatment.

It was stated by the attending physicians, that, while the bullet penetrated the lung, it is not believed any other vital organ was struck, unless it might have been the spleen. While his condition is still regarded as most serious it is much improved over what it was on Sunday, after he had been wounded.

Check Dawson's Past

In the meantime, authorities are continuing their check into Dawson's past, in the hope of solving other crimes, with which he is believed to have been connected. Tragedy seems to be following in the wake of Dawson's ill-starred career. Frank Storar, of 628 Mellon avenue, Baden, who was assigned to guard the home of Lee Baldwin, in Baden, by Police Chief Robert Compton, of Baden, is in the Seewickley Hospital, in a serious condition, suffering from a bullet wound when his gun was accidentally discharged.

Storar had gone to his home following duty at the scene, and was

Three Executed In Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, July 29.—(INS)—Three youthful Jewish extremists were hanged at dawn today, and within a matter of hours British troops opened a record-breaking manhunt for two sergeants whom the underground threatened to hang in retaliation.

The triple execution was carried out methodically in Acre prison courtyard three hours after the Jewish underground made a desperate but vain attempt to liberate the doomed men by attacking the fort's outskirts. The attackers were repulsed without injury to the British.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(INS)—Reliable sources revealed today that the state department plans immediately to step up its news broadcasts into the Soviet Union by the addition of a new 30-minute program.

Obviously aimed at broadening the department's audience behind the iron curtain, the move also was expected to strengthen the position of Assistant Secretary of State William L. Benton's office when it comes up for congressional investigation later this year.

Eaton Is Urging Special Session

Congressman Wants Special Congress Session To Augment Marshall Plan

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(INS)—Rep. Eaton (R) N. J., chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, today urged a special session of congress in October to implement the Marshall plan.

Eaton said he was surprised that President Truman had expressed the view that he foresaw at present no need for congress to reconvene before January.

The congressman stated that if the president failed to recall the house and senate to act upon the plan for European economic rehabilitation, Republican leaders should do so themselves.

Eaton added that he was predicting his statement on the belief that 16 European nations now meeting in Paris will accept the proposal made last month by Secretary of State Marshall for a pooling of their resources with the United States considering aiding them to make up their deficit. If no such agreement is reached, he continued, there will be no plan for congress to supplement and therefore no need for a special session.

Gromyko May Veto Plan On Greek Issue

(BULLETIN)
LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 29.—(INS)—The United Nations Security Council completed four weeks of consideration of the Greek crisis today and agreed to call for a vote on the American plan for a border commission at the three o'clock session.

The states accused of fomenting strife and guerrilla warfare against Greece—Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria—presented final pleas to the council reiterating their stand point that the United States plan is a violation of their sovereignty and would mean the establishment of "a kind of trusteeship over our lands."

Governor Warren Endorses Universal Military Training

HONOLULU, July 29.—(INS)—Gov. Earl Warren of California, often mentioned as a possible contender for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination, was on record today with a vigorous endorsement of universal military training.

He declared such training may in large part spell the difference between America's failure and success in any future conflict.

Warren announced his stand on the controversial universal training issue in a speech before the Honolulu chamber of commerce yesterday.

He addressed a chamber luncheon honoring a group of governors and other navy guests who completed a San Francisco-to-Honolulu naval reserve officers training cruise aboard the Battleship Iowa.

The California chief executive said: "In a republic such as ours success or failure in war will always depend in major part on civilian soldiers who can on short notice bring themselves to the defense of their country from farms, offices and lathes."

India To Seek Halt Of Warfare In East Indies

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 29.—(INS)—The United Nations Security Council today is to receive a request from India to halt the war in Indonesia.

The move against the Dutch government in itself has the sympathetic support of Australia and other Pacific countries, and may develop into a major issue on charges of "aggression" before the council.

Brest, France Suffers Huge Blast Damage

Nitrate-Laden Freightier Explodes In Harbor, Badly Wrecking City

PROBABLY TWENTY PERSONS ARE KILLED

BREST, France, July 29.—(INS)—Many of Brest's 80,000 residents who fled in panic last night when a nitrate-laden freighter exploded in the harbor, killing between 14 and 20 persons and injuring hundreds of others, straggled back into the ravaged city today.

The destruction which greeted them rivaled that visited upon the Breton port during the war.

Mayor Jules Eugene Lullien estimated that not a single building in the city and its suburbs was undamaged by the series of explosions and fires touched off by the blast aboard the Norwegian vessel, "The Ocean Liberty."

Difficult To Estimate Losses

The 63-year-old official, after visiting provisional hospitals set up when the main one was destroyed, said it was "difficult" to assay completely the losses from the tragedy which for a time threatened a repetition of the Texas City, Tex., disaster last spring.

(The British radio, heard in New York by NBC, said that 20 persons were killed and 1,100 hurt, including 100 who were in serious condition.)

He said, however: "My figures show at least 150 persons dead and at least 500 injured, though these totals may rise."

"It is extremely difficult also to evaluate property damage now, but it amounts to at least several hundred million francs."

(The official exchange rate is 120 francs to the dollar.)

Gas-Electric Service Out

So extensive was the destruction wrought that Lullien estimated that gas and electric service could not be restored "for several months."

Much of the damage was caused by fire which swept through the flimsy wooden structures erected as the city tried to recoup from its wartime battering.

The terrific blast occurred as the Norwegian ship was being towed into the harbor following discovery of a fire in its hold, where the ammonium nitrate—which also caused the Texas City holocaust—was stored.

The explosion was felt over a 12-mile radius.

Refugees Refuse To Leave Ships In French Harbor

MARSEILLES, July 29.—(INS)—Unauthorized Jewish immigrants who were returned to France from London reportedly refused today to disembark from a British ferry vessel anchored off Port Du Bouc.

Unconfirmed accounts said they told a French official who boarded the ship: "We want to go to Palestine. We won't debark here unless we are dead."

The vessel is the first of three British ships returning 4,500 uncertified Jewish immigrants to France from which they embarked on the blockade-runner "European exodus 1947" in an abortive attempt to reach Palestine.

They were said to have announced their defiance to the Secretary-General of Bouches Du Rhone Prefecture, who reportedly returned to shore immediately and communicated with Premier Paul Ramadier.

Health authorities have boarded the vessel to investigate reports of widespread illness among the bitterly-discouraged passengers.

The sun may redden those lily white cheeks and freckle the tip of your nose, and it may be the reason for wearing no socks and the minimum limit of clothes. But it does more than that in the gardens and fields, it ripens the grains and the fruit, and I'm hoping real soon for tomatoes of red, and some succulent tomatoes of red, and some succulent tomatoes of red. So let the sun shine on the freckled and tanned, there's a lot of work it has to do; tomatoes and cabbage and ruby Swiss chard, and the weather is swell, ninety-two.

Sesqui-Centennial Explanation Given

Next Year Marks 150th Year Of New Castle's Existence As A Community

With plans for the proposed sesqui-centennial in New Castle beginning to take form, a number of folks have asked "what's it all about." And again they ask, "what was the celebration in 1925?"

The Sesqui-Centennial which is proposed for New Castle in 1948 will celebrate the 150th year of existence as a community for New Castle. In 1798 John Carlisle Sier, art with Hugh McWhorter and a man named Wood settled here. Mr. Sier was a resident of New Castle, Del., and named this community New Castle.

The celebration in 1925 was the centennial of New Castle organized existence as a borough and city. In 1825 the little settlement was made into a borough and one hundred years later the City of New Castle marked the anniversary.

If the sesqui-centennial is held in 1948 it can very well be a county centennial as well. The county of Lawrence was organized in 1849 by taking portions of Mercer and Beaver counties.

But the Sesqui-Centennial itself, will mark 150 years since New Castle was founded near the Indian village of the Lenape or Delawareans.

Two Young Women Given Sentences On Narcotics Count

PITTSBURGH, July 29.—(INS)—Two young women, one of them the wife of a Johnstown physician, today were sentenced by Federal Judge Wallace S. Gourley in Pittsburgh on narcotics charges.

Mrs. Mary M. Wesmer, 23, of Johnstown, pleaded no defense to a charge of forging and passing two counterfeit prescriptions for demerol, a habit-forming chemical was told.

To obtain these, Mrs. Wesmer signed the name of her husband, Dr. C. J. Wesmer, from whom she was separated at the time, the court was told.

Judge Gourley placed her on probation for five years.

Judge Gourley continued a previous probation until 1951, and sentenced to two years in the Federal Women's Reformatory at Alderson, W. Va., Mrs. Mildred Berish, 38, of Bainsburg, Washington county, Pa., on her plea of guilty to charges of obtaining morphine and cocaine under false names and addresses.

kidnap other hostages, and were urged to be particularly alert since the resistance organization had threatened that the streets would flow with British blood if the youthful extremists were hanged.

Observers expressed belief, meanwhile, that the Palestine government may empower the army to destroy any property used for extremist activities. They recalled that during the years of 1936 to 1939 entire villages were razed to combat terrorism.

News concerning the fate of the missing British sergeant-hostages was lacking this afternoon, long after the three young Jews were hanged and the underground assault upon the fortress beaten off.

A 22-vehicle convoy removed the bodies of the hanged youths to safety, after all British police and troops were evacuated from that northeast Palestine town.

Guard At Hospital
Heavy guard is maintained over Dawson at all times, and no one is being permitted to see him without authority from Sheriff Frank L. Coen, who is now in charge of guarding the prisoner.

Rev. Oliver W. Hurst, pastor of the First Baptist church, who was called to see Dawson in the Jamestown Memorial hospital, early Sunday morning, stated today that he had not administered baptismal rite to the wounded man. According to the church ritual, this rite can only be performed by immersion. Rev. Hurst stated that he talked about Dawson's spiritual welfare and when Dawson was informed that baptism was not necessary, but rather that one should confess his sins and accept Christ as his Saviour, that Dawson brightened and said that he repented of his sins, and did accept Christ.

Monday, when Rev. Hurst again visited him, he asked Rev. Hurst to intercede with Police Officer George I. Price, whom he had badly injured in the battle on the roof, when Dawson struck Price on the head with an iron bar from his burglar kit. Rev. Hurst visited Officer Price in his room in the hospital, and stated that Dawson desired his forgiveness, which Price gave.

Second New Safe Needed
The Household Finance Company is faced with the prospect of securing its second new safe in two weeks, the burglar having ruined the safe in his attempt to force an entry. Manager R. A. Georgia stated today that Dawson been successful in his effort to have gotten into the safe, he would only have gotten $190 for his efforts, which would seem like "chicken feed" to a man of his alleged reputation in the criminal world.

Two weeks ago, the company was robbed by safe robbers, who ripped the whole front of the safe open with a "can opener" type tool in effecting an entrance, and the new safe had only been in use a few days.

Safe experts had to drill a hole below the dial to get into the new safe to open it for the finance company. This was necessary as many of the company's records were also stored in the safe.

Difficulty Getting In
Had he knocked out the mechanism, he would have had difficulty in getting into the safe, as the mechanism is a type which would have required some expert lock picking to have gotten into. Mr. Georgia stated, the burglar gained entry to the offices by coming in a rear window outside the Finance Company's offices, and jimmying open the door.

Dawson's drift pin, which he was using to knock out the mechanism, broke off in the hole where the dial mechanism was fitted, and he unscrewed the handle from the safe, and was using it to try and gain entry. This was larger than the hole, and probably necessitated extra heavy pounding, which Acting Fire Chief Harper heard, and gave police the information which resulted in Dawson's apprehension after the battle on the roof.

Had Large Deposits
According to Beaver Valley police authorities, a search of Dawson's effects at the home of George Holcomb, step-father of Lee Baldwin, where Dawson was living, revealed a bank book on an Ambridge Savings Institution, showing that he had deposited $2,100 there on July 21. He had previously deposited $2,600 in the same institution.

Officer George I. Price is getting along fairly well, according to Jamestown Memorial hospital authorities, having had a good night. He hopes to be able to be out and around on his beat soon. Officer Thomas was on the job the next day, but still feels sore where Dawson struck him with his sack of burglar tools.

The season is just about to get under way much to the regret of those who are allergic to rag weeds.

about the city have just a little over five weeks to enjoy their vacation according to the calendar. Some mothers are already outfitting their offsprings for school which will get under way just after Labor Day.

Pa Newc is told that picnickers in the city and county are enjoying themselves better this year than they have for several summers. Even though the weather as whole hasn't been too conducive for picnics, a more abundant supply of lemonade has been on hand due to the release of sugar from the rationing list.

AIR ATTACKS ARE MADE ON DUTCH HELD TERRITORY

Drop Leaflets
In addition to bombing outskirts of Semarang, key port of the north-central coast of Java, the Republic of Indonesia, the Dutch have dropped leaflets to the populace.

At Salatiga, in the interior of the embattled island, the planes concentrated on key positions inside the town.

Dutch fighter planes pursued the bombers back to their base and strafed the field, the Jogjakarta Nationalist radio added.

It was the first time that Republic air force action was mentioned since the Dutch launched their "police action" ten days ago. At that time, Netherlands airmen attacked Indonesian airdromes to keep the Nationalist plane out of action.

Dutch headquarters, meanwhile, reported new evidences of Republic use of the scorched earth policy. At Pendopo, in southern Sumatra four oilfields belonging to the Standard Oil company were reported ablaze.

SADDENED PRESIDENT ON RETURN TO WHITE HOUSE

Presidential nominations for these important posts.

Recess Appointments
He will make recess appointments pending the return of Congress next January or in special session if this is required by the exigencies of the Marshall plan.

Last night, the President, tired and distraught, spent the evening with his family and close friends at the Truman home in Independence. Earlier in the day, together with nearly forty members of the Truman family, he attended funeral services for his mother in the little yellow frame cottage in Grandview. The simple funeral services, lasting 20 minutes and conducted by Mrs. Truman's pastor, the Rev. Welbern Bowman, of the Grandview Baptist church, were followed by a 10-mile drive to the Forest Hill cemetery on the outskirts of Kansas City.

His mother was buried beside the President's father, John Anderson Truman, on a three-shaded knoll. The burial ceremony, as simple as the funeral service was conducted with a Bible reading and prayer.

FAITE

IDEAL
Again and again, people who hold the funeral of their loved ones at our North Hill Funeral, keep telling us how wonderful a place it is. With the open space, large parking facilities and quiet surroundings, combined with our fifty years of service, it seems, according to the way the people feel, makes it an ideal place for holding a funeral.

As a party said to us a few days ago, he could not understand why there should be any time spent in making a decision as to where they should hold the funeral of their loved ones.

On Monday morning, July 28, at 9:30 o'clock, Miss Jane Elizabeth Kerr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse N. Kerr, of this city, became the bride of Carl Lennart Nelson, son of John Nelson of Bessemer.

The double ring ceremony was performed before banked ferns and palms in the home of the bride's parents at 315 East Lincoln avenue by Rev. Edward Nelson of New London, Conn., brother of the groom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a powder blue crepe dress with a corsage of pink roses and white sweet peas and was attended by her sister, Mrs. Paul B. McCandless, of Indiana. Mrs. McCandless wore a gray crepe gown with a corsage of yellow roses.

William Nelson, brother of the groom, served as best man.

Miss Janice Taylor, of Evans City, and a student at Indiana State Teachers college, sang two numbers, "At Dawning" and "Yours Is My Heart Alone" before the ceremony. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Laird Myers of this city, who also played the wedding processionals from "Lohengrin".

Miss Taylor and Mrs. Myers again favored the guests with musical numbers at the wedding breakfast served at the New Castle Country club at 10:30 following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson left for Chautauque, N. Y., where they will spend a week. Upon their return they will reside in the Guerdar block corner of Falls and North Mill streets.

You know how I feel about women's hats!

• I'm draped on number 3 stool at Doc Carroll's drugstore, sipping a milk shake and minding my own business, which is very sound procedure, indeed, when this cloud of feathers blows out of the revolving door.

Now feathers in a milk shake I don't like. So I stop the door with a number 12 oxford, and out fall these two strange birds and a strong-voiced chick. They're all shouting at once, so I set them up to sodas and give an ear.

"It's women's hats," says the one with the king-size lower lip. "These birds don't know that the size of the bill tells whether a hat's a bargain or not."

"That chin-borne fish bowl of his has warped his mind," breaks in the ostrich. "I judge a bargain by how far down the price has gone." And he swallows to emphasize his point.

"You boys are out of your depth," cackles the chick. "Any woman knows a bargain is what you get for what you pay. Am I right, Charlie?"

"On women's hats, no comment," I replies, side-stepping. "But you're all three right if you think of the bargain everybody gets in electric service."

"When the movies were still silent, you got only about half as much electricity for your money as you get today—so your bill says BARGAIN every month."

"But Ossie's right, too. While the price of most everything else has gone up, the price of electricity has come down."

"And another angle—score this one for the chick. What you get today is the most and the best electric service in this peace-torn world. And for that you can thank the business sense and the common sense of the people who built and manage the electric companies."

"Egg-zactly!" chirps the chick, who naturally has to have the last word.

BARRIER TO PEACE

The Soviet Union has said "no" so many times in the past year that little surprise will be occasioned by its refusal to participate in the 11-power conference called by the United States to begin the work of drafting a Japanese peace treaty. The reason for the negative reply this time—that the task is one for the Council of Foreign Ministers exclusively—is no more compelling or sound than the position which Russia usually takes in any matter affecting the well-being of the world.

Indeed, the conclusion is rapidly becoming inescapable that the Soviet Union does not want peace except the kind which is made in Moscow and which has the result of throwing nations and peoples headlong into the communist circle. This supremely selfish attitude is responsible for the chaos which still afflicts Europe and which has delayed European recovery. Given a chance to operate, it would produce identical consequences in the Far East.

The Russian complaint that the American plan for Japanese peace is unilateral action is true only in the sense that the United States has taken the initiative. But 10 other countries, including the Soviet itself, have been invited to share in the deliberations and have a hand in writing the treaty. There is nothing dictatorial or domineering in that. On the contrary, it reflects a desire on the part of the United States to make peace a genuinely cooperative effort.

While the Soviet note probably will receive a reasonably courteous reply from our State Department, it is hoped that the matter will not become the subject of a prolonged argument. Perhaps the best course to follow in Japan is the course followed with respect to the Marshall plan for Europe. If Russia wants to come in, she will be welcomed. If not, the other nations will go along without her.

BOMBARDED FROM THE SKY

The late returns on the summer's hail storms are still coming in. People marveled in the spring at hailstones the size of chicken eggs—now there are reports from various sections that some fell as large as baseballs. Reports of the damage caused vary, including partial or complete destruction of crops, killing of chickens which lacked the ability to make the henhouses, killing of cattle, almost complete destruction of buildings.

But the United States Weather Bureau at Washington says the country really has seen nothing, comparatively speaking.

The bureau says that in Pitter, Neb., on June 6, 1928, hailstones measuring 17 inches in circumference and weighing one and one-half pounds hurtled out of the sky. And on June 15, 1929, a town in Spain was literally crushed beneath a downpour of hailstones that weighed as much as five pounds each.

Hail always falls in hot weather, the weatherman says, and is no kin to sleet which in wintertime is ice from the sky. They never fall together. As a thunderstorm rumbles along the heavens looking for somebody to rain on, sometimes a small but powerful updraft occurs on its leading edge.

The greater the heat and moisture of the lower air, the more powerful this updraft is. It usually covers no more than 15,000 to 20,000 feet of the storm's front, as hot, expanding air rushes toward the cooler regions aloft.

Sweeping upward, the rising air on the edge of the storm whistles through the strata of storm clouds, carrying droplets of moisture to an altitude above 7,000 feet. On earth's hottest days the air is often below freezing temperature from 7,000 to 10,000 feet up.

When the droplets freeze, their heat of fusion warms the air about them slightly. This creates a disturbance within the uprushing pillar of air and the frozen droplets small hailstones now, "fall off" and tumble earthward. But before they reach the ground the small hailstones are likely to be sucked into the updraft again and again, boosted to high altitude. On each ascent they gather another layer of moisture which freezes, increasing their size.

Well, it seems the larger hailstones again begin their downward tumble, only to be swept once more into the swift currents of the updraft and flung skyward, accumulating another layer of ice. A hailstone is built like an onion. It gathers layer after layer of ice around a tiny nucleus.

When the chunks of ice become so heavy, after several hours, that the updraft cannot lift them back into the freezing zone, they finally fall to earth.

The size of the hailstones that finally rattle on roofs depends on the velocity of the updraft that forms them. An upward draft of 50 to 75 miles an hour is required to support hailstones one inch in diameter. A four-inch hailstone requires an upward sweep of air traveling in excess of 450 miles an hour.

There is little question that the European nations living on Uncle Sam's relief will give three loud cheers for President Truman's veto of the tax reduction bill.

Hints On Etiquette

At a large gathering where the hostess cannot possibly get about to introduce strangers to each other, it is perfectly proper for guests who observe others who obviously are strangers to begin conversation with them.

Washington Calling

By Marquis Childs

Secretary Marshall Doing Good Work

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Six months ago, George C. Marshall became secretary of state to the accompaniment of such salvos of praises as are rarely accorded any public figure. As chief of staff during the war, he had won a towering reputation.

Having completed his temporary assignment in China, General Marshall's desire was to retire to his country home at Leesburg, Virginia. He was 66 years old. He looked forward to well-earned peace and quiet in his latter years.

Accepted New Task
At President Truman's urging, he accepted the new task. Some of us were fearful, at the time of his appointment, that the salvos of praise were too extravagant, to make him sound like a miracle-worker, in view of what he faced, was a disservice.

But after six months of stress and strain, of trial and testing, Marshall's reputation still looms large. It has been a crowded six months with events pressing one upon the other, beginning with the Moscow conference. Secretary Marshall has not by any magic altered the fundamental relationships that existed before he took office. Those who understood the realities of the Soviet-U. S. position never believed that he could bring about an overnight change.

Presents Alternative
What he has done in six months is to present the world with an alternative to chaos and catastrophe. The consequences of Marshall's Harvard University speech have been astonishing.

It is not merely that representatives of 16 European nations are meeting in Paris to try to agree on a plan for European reconstruction. Equally important is the fact that it has spurred the Soviet Union to compete in kind. Just as the British-Soviet trade negotiations seemed about to end in complete failure, there was a change of heart.

The World and the Mud Puddles

THEY GO BUT?

Boss Hague of Jersey City may have been reading the story of the pitcher that went too often to the well. A while ago his political pal and counterpart, Boss Kelley of Chicago, was retired by popular request. The Pendergast machine in Kansas City took a beating at the polls in the congressional election. More recently one of Hague's Jersey allies, Boss McFeeley of Hoboken, was decisively routed by a political revolution. So, Mr. Hague, after more than thirty years of undisputed rule, lays down his Mayorship. True to the boss tradition, however, he names his successor, in the person of a nephew; the dynasty will thus be perpetuated—until the Jersey City voters finally wake up.

Our big cities have mostly been breeders of political dictators. We have had Tweed in New York, Sullivan, Thompson and Kelley in Chicago, Crump in Memphis, Long in New Orleans, Pendergast in Kansas City, Reuf in San Francisco and a lot of others less notorious. Their history is almost standardized. They flourish for a while to their own and friends' profit only to overreach themselves and eventually by their excesses inspire popular revolt.

Reason For Boss Rule
The reason for boss rule in our bigger cities, of course, is the indifference and negligence of the so-

STATESMAN

Is it good for the party, but harmful for all?
Will it gain or lose votes at the polls in the fall?
Shall I be derided and doomed to defeat?
These are questions that often the statesman must meet.

Am I big enough now to be faithful and strong?
Standing up for the cause in the face of the throng?
Will it injure my country, but add to my pride?
Such questions the statesman must often decide.

Am I valiant in times for decision, or weak?
Is it honor or votes for myself that I seek?
Am I true to my country or craving applause?
Can I dare, though alone, to give voice to the cause?

Yet, always the man in the dark hours of need
With devotion to truth and the courage to lead,
Choosing right above self, with the patience to wait,
Goes down into history, honored and great.

The Holdout

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

READING TROUBLE SERIOUS PROBLEM

In the upper grades, high school, even in college, many failures in one or more subjects are really failures in reading. You see when a student prepares an assignment he reads it and reads it for meaning. Practically all his study consists of reading, not only in such subjects as history, geography, science, economics, English but also in arithmetic and higher mathematics.

As numerous studies have disclosed and as practically any parent or teacher has observed, there are many poor readers beyond the third or fourth grade, even in college. Indeed, some high school and college students can barely read well materials of difficulty above the fourth or fifth grade. If you don't believe this ask a high school or college student who studies hard but gets poor or failing grades, to read silently for five minutes from one of his text books and then tell you what he had read; or ask him to read aloud from it.

The amazing thing is that so many of these poor readers get through high school or college. They do so at terrific cost of time and effort and worry. They don't get results at all in proportion to the effort they expend. What an uphill job they have!

Some of these poor readers might read aloud fairly well without being able to put into their own words what they have read. They have not learned to read for meaning. In my bulletin, "Tips for Students," (to be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.) I present some positive suggestions which are appropos. Usually, however, the poor reader cannot read with reasonable ease and speed silently or orally. The student who must pause or stumble over one or more words in nearly every sentence is truly pathetic. And there are many of such.

Needs Intelligent Help
But we should not scold or ridicule this student. He already is ashamed of his lag at reading. He needs intelligent help. In my "Home Helps for Poor Readers, Part II" I show how. (Part I is for the child below fifth grade. Each may be had in a stamped envelope.)

Sympathetic parents read to or with this poor reader from his text assignments and show him how to turn each paragraph into a few words of his own. It is fine if these parents can prevail on this youth to practice at reading some aloud or some silently each day from materials of third, fourth or fifth grade difficulty, in order to bring up his reading skill. All the better, of course, if the reading material makes a strong interest appeal to the youth.

During the remaining weeks before school opens, the poor reader could gain considerably from such practice. In some cases a teacher with dexterity could further his progress. It would be a good investment.

Radio quiz programs no longer cater exclusively to morons. Recently a contestant was asked to tell what wild animal was on the buffalo nickel.—Miami News-Record.

Too bad that taxi drivers and movie theater ushers seldom have literary ability. Think of the romances they could write. No class of people should have a better close-up knowledge of the art of love.

One of our neighbors had to wait a year for a new car, and now he says he will probably have to wait another year to find a parking place for it.

One Man's Opinion

Tests of the slave labor bill are legions . . . so far they have turned up 13 stenographers wearing ankle bracelets inscribed "To My Darling".

I hear they have men at every factory gate watching for signs of leg irons . . . so far they have turned up 13 stenographers wearing ankle bracelets inscribed "To My Darling".

They also questioned a guy dragging 25 yards of gray chain . . . he turned out to be the factory concessionaire with the link sausage for lunch.

I have been looking over these boys' records for shouting "wolf" and neither of them will ever make the grade as game warden. When the Smith-Connally act was passed they cried "Unions are doomed!" When the Case bill was proposed they shouted "Unions are doomed!" When the Taft-Hartley bill was passed they moaned "Unions are doomed!"

It is becoming obvious that the needle is stuck.

DUTCH TREAT

"When a group of girls are out and one of them suggests stopping for sodas, should she pay for all?"

Answer: No. That would not be fair. This is the era of the "Dutch treat." It is most effective for bringing together friends who otherwise might avoid suggesting that a group assemble for refreshments, luncheon, dinner or the movies—for fear of having to pay the whole bill. Thus when a group of girls goes out, usually each pays her own bill unless the one who suggests the date explains that it is to be her party. When no such suggestion is made, ask what your share of the check is and be ready with open purse to pay it. The Dutch treat probably started with daily gatherings of business women when such frequent meetings eliminated the embarrassment of check grazing and confusion as to whose treat was whose. If, however, you are invited for a meal or refreshments and the one who suggested it insists on paying the bill, let her do it. Of course, when a man gives the invitation, he should assume the cost. Do not then offer to pay your share.

Question: I have received an invitation to a party to which I am very anxious to go, but I have an out-of-town guest staying with me. May I ask if I may bring him along or must I send my regret and stay home. I had previously accepted the invitation?

Answer: You may properly ask your hostess for an invitation for your out-of-town guest. Explain your predicament to her and I am sure she will tell you to bring him along. An extra man is always welcome at a party. If your invitation were to a luncheon or a dinner, that would put a different light on the problem. Never ask for an invitation to a meal for anyone. This would require an extra place at the table, which would no doubt result in inconvenience for everyone.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

Everybody at the New York Museum of Natural History is very much excited because an expedition sent by that institution to New Mexico has just discovered the remains of the first dinosaurs that ever lived in North America.

These first inhabitants of the United States are supposed to have roamed this country 200 million years ago, and like their modern successor, Man, are said to have been carnivorous, feeding on other animals and reptiles.

Since you have probably read all about the discovery in your newspapers, I shall not bore you with the details of this, as the scientists call it, "most important discovery ever made."

What interests me most is how much difference there was in the behavior of the dinosaurs of 200 million years ago and the human being of today.

Now I know that many of you will accuse me of lacking completely in the proper respect for science and for the dignity of man.

"What do you mean," you will exclaim, "by comparing us humans with all our progress, all our civilization, all our nobility of spirit and mind with an old fossil that lived way before we had airplanes and automobiles and churches and schools and rouse and lipstick and museums and adultery and opera and divorce?"

Well, dear readers, frankly I can't see much difference. For instance, between a dinosaur and a columnist. I, too, am carnivorous. Last night for dinner I had a delicious steak.

For breakfast I had two fried eggs and bacon.

The steak came from a steer that was killed to provide food for human beings.

The bacon came from a pig—not the kind of pig I am when I eat too much—but a plain, innocent pig that never did me any harm.

The eggs were two potential chickens, chickens that might have grown up to be hens or roosters, both of which, in the general scheme of things, have just as much right to live as I have.

On yes, we do have civilization, and the dinosaurs didn't have any.

So what do we do with our civilization? We run over each other with automobiles. We wage wars against perfectly innocent people.

We cheat each other. We lie and we covet, and we violate all the other commandments which, if we obeyed them, would distinguish us at least to some extent from the dinosaurs.

Don't think that I am writing all this because I have indigestion or a case of the blues. I feel fine today (there has been some cooling rain), but I don't like to kid myself and my readers.

We look with condescension upon the 200 million year old dinosaurs. I wonder how people will look upon us 200 million years from now.

TOMATOES AND POPULARITY
Sometimes a family will not be very respectable for a few generations. Then it changes its ways and takes an important and prominent place in the world.

There is usually some reason for this popularity. The same condition sometimes exists in the vegetable world.

The tomato is a good example. A few years ago tomatoes were not used for food. They were thought to be poisonous or at least worthless.

Nowadays the tomato is a very popular and valuable food.

Tomatoes are of value chiefly for the vitamins which they supply. They are valuable either raw, cooked or canned.

Although they provide very little nourishment, they satisfy the appetite and make good combinations with other foods.

People who are overweight will find the tomato a helper in the time of need.

"Brewster Vs. Mencken"

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Senator Brewster's bill to pull off the shoes of all ex-presidents and turn them out to pasture in the U. S. Senate lacks the crisp finality of H. L. Mencken's old idea that ex-presidents and unsuccessful presidential candidates should be mercifully put to death.

I imagine that the Mencken measure would stand a good chance of passage if the economic features were made an issue. Senators get $10,000 a year plus some generous tax-free allowances, and this becomes a real budget item when you figure that only seven presidents have died in office and that some of the others lived an unconscionable time after leaving the White House.

Ex-President 17 Years

Jefferson was ex-president for 17 years, Madison for 19 years, Van Buren for 21 years, Theodore Roosevelt for 10 years. No ex-presidents except John Quincy Adams in the House and Taft in the Supreme Court ever latched on to another Federal job either. At the outbreak of the Civil War there were five ex-presidents at large and all of them were unemployed.

Another good thing about the Mencken plan is that it would bring into the presidency only those willing to die for their country. The threat of death at the end of a term or of an unsuccessful campaign would separate the men from the boys, and would also remove the jealousy that underlings and outsiders always bear for the man in the White House.

Not Without Merit Either

But the Brewster bill is not without merit, either. It would be well worth while to either major party, even if the upkeep of the old pensioners had to be paid out of campaign chests. Enactment of such a retirement plan would be an effective means of persuading incompetent presidents to clear out at the end of one term rather than embarrass their parties and threaten their country with additional years of inept administration.

Imagine, for example, the advantage the Republicans would have enjoyed in 1932 if they could have pensioned off Herbert Hoover instead of renominating him for a hopeless fight. Mr. Hoover would have been spared the humiliation of his defeat and his long years in the doghouse, while the GOP might have found some candidate to give Roosevelt a real work-up.

The Democrats, too, would be in a better position and would have fewer malcontents if FDR had had somewhere better to go than Hyde Park at the end of his second term. A similar situation exists today in the case of Mr. Truman who would have one less reason to seek re-election if he were sure of a life tenure in the Senate where he was once so happy.

Another Thing To Think About

Another thing to think about in re the Brewster bill is the boost it would give to the office of vice presidency. It could hardly be a coincidence that this measure came to the fore while the Governors were gathered at the Salt Lake City Convention where Truman, Dewey and Taft were all on the lookout for running mates. Prior to the passage of the Twelfth Amendment there was some honor and consolation in being Second Citizen. All national candidates prior to the 1804 election ran for the Big Apple and the runner-up got second money even if he happened to belong to the opposition party. But in the past 143 years there has been no incentive to seek the lesser office except as a gamble on the life span of the president. At that, the pickings were never very good. Theodore Roosevelt and Calvin Coolidge both managed to get elected after inheriting the presidency, but Tyler, Fillmore, Johnson and Arthur all became civilians as soon as their fill-in terms expired.

But if Senator Brewster gets his way, vice presidents will always live in the hope of surviving their presidents and thus getting a cushy job on the Hill. Any beneficiary of the Brewster plan would be spared the trouble of voting and of seeking re-election. Take away these two chores and there is nothing much for a Senator to do except keep up his social engagements and dispense patronage. A man who reached the Upper Chamber by way of the White House would not even have to put in an appearance except on pay-day. With Bilbo hors de combat and three other Senators foreign-born, there are now 92 candidates for vice president in the Upper Chamber. If they knew the Brewster bill was coming up, no wonder.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Oestreicher, INS Foreign Director

A bitter foretaste of what immeasurable suffering might be visited upon civilians should another war emerge from the present miasma of suspicion among nations was offered today in the wake of an almost over-looked convention that took place in Copenhagen.

In Denmark's capital, the international Congress of Micro-Biologists had assembled to discuss developments in their own and Allied medical fields of research. But inevitably—and as even in the case of a recent convention of baby doctors in New York—the session adjourned on a note of most solemn warning.

A final resolution was adopted condemning all forms of bacteriological warfare. It said:

Barbaric Procedure
"The congress finds such barbaric procedure unworthy for any civilized society and expresses its firm assurance that all of the world's micro-biologists will do whatever they can to prevent its use."

This particular resolution had as its most potent factor the simple realization that bacteria warfare was not used in World War II, and by the same token it implied that such a horror would be a perfectly natural concomitant of any new conflict.

There is no question that Nazi Germany, in making its preparations for the holocaust that began in September, 1939, had made all conceivable explorations into the use of chemicals in warfare.

It certainly is not without reason that the German I. G. Farben-Industrie chemical combine was the most heavily subsidized of all Nazi concerns except perhaps for the Krupp munitions outfit.

It is equally well established that Adolf Hitler himself had, among his other eccentricities, a truly morbid fascination for drugs of dynamic—and death-dealing—effects.

Hitler Drug Addict
News dispatches, now fully confirmed by the numerous biographies of the defunct Third Reich, told of Hitler's countless drug addictions under the ministrations of a quack named Dr. Theodore Morrell. And it is a sordid part of history that Hermann Goering and an evil-starred Heinrich Himmler killed themselves with astonishing speed by poison vials.

Archives of the British secret service, which never have and probably never will be revealed for public consumption in prevailing times, are believed to contain many abhorrent details of German chemical warfare preparations.

It is known that the Nazis developed to an incredible and unduplicated degree the production of synthetic petroleum, ersatz alcohol and all the other essentials for a nation embarking on aggressive warfare.

It is known also that with the aid of the secret service, the Allies were able to counter all these "achievements"—step by step. And it is certainly possible that only through realization that reprisals would be forthcoming was Hitler's hand held back from bacteria poisoning of mankind.

Report Divorce Rate Is Dropping

Last Year Recorded An All-Time
High Of 620,000 Divorces
In United States

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 29.—The divorce rate in the United States will be materially lower in 1947 than it was in 1946, the statistics of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company forecast. An indication of the downward trend is the drop of about 40 per cent in the number of divorces granted in Reno, in the first six months of this year as compared with the like period of last year. Figures for New Jersey, Minnesota, and for California show a similar, though less marked decline.

Last year an all-time high of more than 620,000 divorces were granted in the United States, almost double the figure of only four years earlier. The rise in the number of divorces in the four years between 1942 and 1946 nearly equalled the increase from the beginning of our history until 1942.

The statisticians also call attention to the relatively large number of annulments granted annually in some of the states. In California, for example, annulments now constitute about one-seventh of the total number of marriages legally dissolved. In New York state the ratio is one-third, having increased to this figure from about one-fifth in 1940. In at least two counties in New York, annulments exceed divorces in number.

"While a decline in divorce is indicated for 1947, there is little reason to believe that the long-term upward trend in the divorce rate has been halted, much less reversed," the statisticians say. "Our country urgently needs more and better facilities for composing domestic difficulties constructively, in order to retard the grinding of the divorce mills."

Marietta College President Asked To Resign Post

MARIETTA, O., July 29.—(INS)—President William A. Shimer of Marietta College, Marietta, O., today pondered his next move in connection with a trustees' request that he resign.

Dr. Shimer, 53, was told bluntly by the board yesterday that its demand for his resignation was caused simply by "your separation, divorce and remarriage."

The college president, who was divorced last year on charges of "gross neglect," was remarried June 21 to Miss Dorothy E. Blair, 36, the college's former dean of women. They were honeymooning in Canada last week when they received a registered letter from the trustees informing Dr. Shimer his resignation would be welcome.

Dr. Shimer said he has not yet made up his mind whether to ask a meeting with the executive committee.

He said Saturday when he and his bride returned that he would demand a hearing on formal charges.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

called "good people." While the bosses and their friends make an industry or business of politics, operating on a definite commercial basis, the "good" citizen seldom stirs himself to fight for civic decency, in too many cases venting his dissatisfaction by complaining, while failing to register or vote. Sporadic reform crusades as a rule accomplish nothing, as reformers traditionally lack political acumen and lean more to theory than practice. The "good" boss, who uses the taxpayers' money to hand out charity to the poor and find jobs for the faithful, almost invariably commands a larger and more loyal following than the proponent of civic decency.

Publicity has curbed to some extent the ruthless tactics of the big town bosses, but their methods have not changed much in principle, as witness the recent theft of congressional election records in Kansas City district dominated by the Pendergast mob. One striking anomaly of recent and contemporary American politics has been the peculiar alliance between the New Deal, with its high professions of civic virtue, and such powerful, conscienceless gang as those of Hague, Kelley, Crump, Flynn and Pendergast. This bold union of "liberalism" with corruption is a major factor of the Roosevelt regime, at last seems to be in process of disintegration. But it remains yet to be seen whether Hague, Kelley, the junior Pendergast and their prototypes will continue their domination through the 1948 Democratic National Convention.

Sugar Rationing Has Come To End

WASHINGTON, July 29.—It's an ill wind that blows nobody good, and this was true on Monday when all sugar rationing came to an end—because the government doesn't have money to finance it further. This action, announced by the Agricultural Department, affected only industrial and institutional users, such as food processors, bakers, candy makers, bottlers, hospitals, and hotels. Household rationing ended about two months ago.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 29.—(INS)—Twenty-nine-year-old David A. Downey of San Francisco today faced a murder charge in the strangulation of his Czechoslovakian wife near Colorado Springs, Colo.

The charge was filed by District Attorney I. F. Ford shortly after a coroner's jury found that Mrs. Iolli Downey, 24, died of injuries feloniously inflicted by her husband. Downey has been held in El Paso county jail since July 19, the day his wife's body was found at the foot of a cliff northwest of the city.

The former army bombardier and hotel accountant admitted strangling his wife after days of questioning.

He and Mrs. Downey were en route from Bloomfield, Iowa, his former home, to San Francisco, when the slaying occurred.

in Moscow and the British have now been promised a million tons of wheat from Russia.

Plan May Fail
The Marshall plan may fail. It may fail because the competition between East and West settles into a competition for bigger and better armaments. Or it may fail, more immediately because of the division in the government in Washington between Republicans and Democrats, and the deeper feud between those who believe we must play a part in the world and those who believe our only security is in isolation. But failure will not be the fault of the author of the plan. It will come out of circumstances beyond the control of any individual.

Having more modesty than most public figures, Marshall does not claim all the credit for what has been achieved. His new planning staff, headed by George F. Kennan, has had a lot to do with shaping the plan. The fact remains, however, that it was Marshall who instituted the planning staff and manned it with some of the ablest men in his department.

Few Attacks
One of the few critical attacks on Marshall followed his return from Moscow. An inspired news story said he had held himself too aloof at the Moscow conference and had not called on the other members of the delegation for their help and counsel. Those who watched him at close range refute this charge. While he is naturally reserved, he made every effort to include his colleagues in all important discussions.

Almost inevitable, with politics in the fore on the eve of a presidential contest, Marshall's pre-eminent po-

Pittsburgher Is Heard By Rotary

W. J. Hasselman, Prominent Rotarian Of Smoky City, Extols Rotary Principles

RETURN TO BASIC ECONOMY IS NEEDED

Sincerity of purpose and a tolerance for one's fellow man is a vital need in the world today, W. J. Hasselman, prominent Pittsburgh Rotarian, told members of the New Castle Rotary Club at their noon luncheon meeting in the Castleton, Monday. There is also a need for the nation to return to basic economy before it is too late, he stated.

The return to a basic economy in the operation of our government can be accomplished quicker through the fellowship of Rotary than in any other way, Mr. Hasselman stated.

Congress does not seem to know what kind of legislation is needed in taxation problems at Washington, and there is a grave danger that free enterprise will be doomed unless they awaken to the situation. We know that we cannot spend more than we make, but Congress does not seem to have become aware of that fact as yet.

We as citizens, he pointed out, can help shape the policy of our nation by writing to our Congressmen. If they do not know what your views and wishes are in legislative matters, they have nothing to guide them, and they need the help of expert advice in a lot of matters.

Sincerity of Purpose
Sincerity of purpose and tolerance for one fellow man, are two great Rotary principles, Mr. Hasselman stated, which should be stressed more fully than they are. The mystery of fellowship is hidden in God. It embodies everything that teaches tolerance. It is concerned with all the affairs of the world.

Our forefathers, he concluded, founded this nation on the premise that life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness were essential to man's well being, and this country has forged ahead on these principles. Although Russia is trying to destroy these principles, he stated that no government is strong enough to do so.

Thomas J. Foley was welcomed to the club as a new member by President L. C. Dayton. Mr. Foley has recently arrived here to succeed Forbes Burdette as manager of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company.

Ghosts And Spooks At Eastbrook Camp

Camp Eastbrook, the Y.W.C.A. camp on the Neshannock Creek is fast becoming a "Y.S.H." camp. Y.S.H. meaning Young Spook's Hideout.

A carnival, held on Monday night, brought another round of ghosts and spooks to the peaceful scene. Perhaps the most gruesome aspect was the spook house, in which an entire day of preparation had not been wasted, and some of the ideas were indeed ingenious. A large face had been painted on a mirror, and placed flat on a table, beside a candle covered with a box. Upon lifting the box, the face would reflect on the wall in hideous proportions.

Another popular feature was the seance, held in the main cottage. Unknown even to the counselors was the third floor, which had to be entered by a small hole through the ceiling. The campers found it, and really puzzled customers with the tapping from above.

Fortune telling and a fun house were operated in true carnival style, as was the ring throwing contest, in which beautiful prizes were offered, but never won!

Songs around a campfire concluded the evening, and counselors pronounced it one of the most successful events of the summer at camp.

FALLS ONE STORY BUT ESCAPES INJURY

Small girl, named O'Neil, who resides in Neshannock avenue, fell from a rear porch of Jack's Tavern at 7 p. m. yesterday. However, she escaped injury, according to a report made to police.

Kaiser Charges He Is Victim Of 'Smear Campaign'

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(INS)—Henry J. Kaiser charged today that he was the victim of a "smear campaign" in the Howard Hughes aircraft inquiry when the Brewster committee refused to let him make a public statement before answering questions.

Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., chairman of the senate war investigating subcommittee, insisted upon questioning Kaiser before receiving a prepared statement from the wartime shipbuilder.

In the statement Kaiser challenged the committee to find out why his cargo plane proposal in 1942 was given a "mysterious kiss-off" by official Washington after being approved by aviation leaders.

Sen. Pepper (D) Fla., registered a vigorous protest over Ferguson's refusal to let Kaiser speak in self-defense before answering questions. But Ferguson was adamant.

"I've never had such a smear campaign made against me," Kaiser objected.

"I'm in the unusual position of being seriously damaged by evidence given here yesterday."

Pittsburgh Alley Fight Proves Fatal

PITTSBURGH, July 29.—(INS)—Frank S. Coyle, 42, World War II veteran, died today following an alley fight with Anthony Shupenko, 28, police reported.

Shupenko, also a veteran attending a watchmaker's school in Pittsburgh under the GI bill, was being held pending a coroner's autopsy to determine the exact cause of death. Shupenko, who lives in the same rooming house with Coyle, said the fight followed an argument over noise-making in Coyle's room. He told officers Coyle invited him outside, some blows were struck, and Coyle was knocked down.

He did not regain consciousness.

Three Children Drown In Lake

ANDOVER, O., July 29.—Mrs. Angeline Wanchow, 51, of Hubbard, Ohio, saw three of her children drown Sunday and nearly drowned herself in a vain effort to save their lives during an outing at Pymatuning Lake.

Coroner C. C. Roller of Ashtabula county identified the dead as Cyril Wanchow, 30, his sister, Nancy, 9, and a brother, Robert, 8. Mrs. Wanchow said a small motorboat upset during a squall and that Mrs. Wanchow attempted to hold the younger children above water but that they slipped from her grasp just as help arrived.

Seek Vandals In Warren County

WARREN, Pa., July 29.—(INS)—State police and Warren county officers today sought vandals who damaged 17 summer camps and a garage hall in the Warren area in recent days.

Officers estimated damage at more than $10,000.

They said that at the Hearts of Content district grange hall, fuel oil tanks were opened and the oil lost, a piano and other equipment damaged. At least 22 rifles were stolen from the camps.

"Teen-aged youths were believed responsible."

State Sets New Milk Production Record For June

All-Time High Sees 540 Million Pounds Turned Out By
Dairies In State

HARRISBURG, July 29.—Pennsylvania dairy cows set an all-time production record for June, turning out a total of 540 million pounds, State Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst said today following a federal-state survey.

The record month-of-June production exceeded that of June 1946 by five per cent and the 1936-45 average by 15 per cent, the secretary declared.

Although the seasonal peak of milk production on Pennsylvania dairy farms generally occurs in May, the June production this year was bettered only by the 357 million pound all-time record of May 1945 and this May's total of 549 million pounds.

Still another record was established last month. The daily average production per cow, reported at 18.8 pounds per day, is the highest ever known for any month of record. The survey revealed that 84 per cent of the milk cows in Pennsylvania herds were being milked during June, about normal for the month.

While a few pastures became dry late in June, condition generally was good and contributed largely to the fine showing of Pennsylvania herds, Secretary Horst explained.

National milk production reached an all-time high in June with almost 13 billion pounds, about 3 per cent more than in June a year ago and one per cent above the previous record for any month, established in June 1945. Milk production in June was slightly more than three pounds per day for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Teacher Supply And Demand To Be Investigated

HARRISBURG, July 29.—(INS)—The Department of Public Instruction revealed today it has undertaken a state-wide survey to determine teacher supply and demand in Pennsylvania.

President of liberal art colleges have been asked to report the number of students trained for teaching and types of education for which they were fitted, according to Superintendent Francis B. Haas.

County and district superintendents were requested to state the number and type of vacancies existing in their districts, he added. The shortage of fully qualified teachers has been estimated at 4000.

Of the 58,500 instructors in the state, 4000 held emergency teaching certificates and were not fully equipped to teach under regular standards, it was explained.

POLLOCK PLAYGROUND PLAYS VOLLEY BALL

Pollock avenue playground spent Monday afternoon in playing volleyball against the Home street playground, with Pollock avenue being the winner.

Mrs. Mary Sands is the playground supervisor.

WAR IS OVER

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—(INS)—The war is over as far as San Francisco is concerned.

The city today was declared to be back on a full peacetime basis after the board of supervisors authorized removal of air raid sirens from downtown buildings.

The board appropriated $4,494, out of its remaining emergency defense funds, for the work of removing the "Wailing Willies".

Several times since Japan's surrender the appropriation had been postponed because a number of the city fathers—in their own words—"weren't 'sure' the sirens might not be needed again."

Plan For Defense Of English War Bride For Murder

CRESTVIEW, Fla., July 29.—(INS)—Funds were being collected today for the defense of 21-year-old Margaret Irene Poland, English war bride, who is charged with the murder of her GI-husband in Fort Walton, Fla.

Citizens of Fort Walton, led by Leon and J. P. Bishop and J. B. Chandler, guaranteed they would collect attorney's fees for Mrs. Poland.

The former resident of the Isle of Man claimed her estranged husband, Sgt. Graydon Poland, did not permit her to see their infant daughter and had attempted to run her down with a jeep.

Mrs. Poland's case was postponed pending the next term of the Okaloosa County grand jury on Aug. 25.

Legal Counsel For Communists Dies Suddenly

NEW YORK, July 29.—(INS)—A heart attack was blamed today for the sudden death last night of Joseph R. Brodsky, 57, attorney for the Communist party and for party leaders for the past 20 years. He collapsed and died in his lower Fifth avenue office.

Brodsky, during his lifetime, served as legal counsel in almost every case involving Communist and leftwing interests. Perhaps his most celebrated case was the Scottsboro affair, in which he served as chief defense counsel in the early phases of the trial and appeals.

The lawyer was born in Kiev, Russia. He is survived by his widow, two daughters and a brother.

Charges Filed In Boy's Death

MEADVILLE, July 29.—(INS)—Charges of manslaughter and aggravated assault and battery today were on file in Crawford county court at Meadville against Harvey Kellerman in the death of his three-year-old son 14 months ago.

The charges were filed by District Attorney Kenneth W. Rice after an investigation that followed the accidental death last week of a six-months-old son of Kellerman. The infant was found strangled in its crib.

The death of the older boy in May 1946 at first was believed to be accidental. However, after questioning and a lie detector test, Kellerman, farmer of nearby Spartansburg, admitted he struck the boy.

Harvey Jr., a short time before he collapsed in the yard, District Attorney Rice said.

Kellerman, a farmer of nearby Spartansburg, pleaded innocent when arraigned before Alderman Dominick Lemme on the charges.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, July 29.—Sam Wanamaker, the stage star from Broadway, is entirely content with his first movie venture.

"This is certainly easy work," he said, "beside that, they are paying me a very large sum of money for doing it."

"I don't see how anyone could complain about the work. If you know anything at all about acting, it's very easy."

Knows Acting
Sam, it may be said, knows plenty about acting. Just before he came to Hollywood, he completed a long run with Ingrid Bergman in "Joan of Lorraine."

His first picture, "Ever the Beginning" for Milton Sperling at Warners will be finished soon and then he heads back to New York City for two plays.

"I want to return to Hollywood for more pictures, but I don't know when I'll be back," he told your reporter. "My contract is with Sperling and I don't have to make another picture for him for 16 months."

Shuns Killer Roles
Leon Ames, who's been on the screen for a long time, has put his foot down on doing any more gangster roles for the time being.

"If you get typed as a killer, you have one heck of a time getting any other kind of a role," Leon said.

That was why he went to M-G-M bosses and begged out when he was assigned a murderer's role in "The High Wall" with Robert Taylor and Audrey Trotter.

Must Have Variety
He'd just played killer in "Son of the Thin Man" and "Alias A Gentleman."

The studio agreed and assigned him the role of a naval officer in "Romance in High C."

"This is fine," Leon said, "a man has got to have some variety."

Some Requests Are Still Made For Silver Dollars

When someone says, "Give that lady one silver dollar", James R. Mear complies with the command. That is because he is cashier at the First National Bank of Lawrence County, and because people still want a silver dollar occasionally.

Most of the requests are for a birthday or anniversary gift, and quite frequently a certain year is designated.

Silver dollars, which are coined for the last time in 1935, are still in circulation. Mr. Mear said that he received about twenty during the last month.

The first year of coinage was in 1794, when 1,758 silver dollars were coined. The following year 184,013 were coined.

Best type coin was adopted in the latter part of 1795, and is fairly common. The most discussed coin in American numismatics is the rare 1804 coin, according to leading coin experts.

It is possible to find a date as early as 1878 in circulation, and fairly well preserved, say those who know their money.

First silver dollar to appear with a motto on it was in the year 1866, and the motto, "In God We Trust".

Some of these old coins are very valuable, and have been sold for as much as $1,000 to $5,000 for one of the most rare. At that rate, someone should be making money!

Senator Taft Adds To Speaking Tour In Far West

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(INS)—Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, a leading potential candidate for the GOP Presidential nomination next year, today added two speaking engagements in the state of Washington to his forthcoming western tour.

Taft, who apparently will try to match the recent "vacation tour" of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, announced that he will speak Sept. 24 in Seattle and Sept. 25 in Tacoma.

The Ohioan previously scheduled engagements in San Francisco, and Santa Cruz, Calif., and Reno, Nev., in a western trip to sound out reaction to accomplishments of the GOP-controlled congress.

Dewey has just finished a vacation trip through a dozen western states.

English Woman Speaks To Students

NEW WILMINGTON, July 29.—Miss Helen Johnston-Shepherd, an English woman, has concluded a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Brennan, Beechwood road.

Miss Johnston-Shepherd was a member of the American Red Cross during the war and arranged tours for American soldiers in England.

While here, she addressed students of Westminster College at a special chapel service. Her subject was "Oxford-Town and Gown."

Gas Company Is Given Permit To Build New Line

HARRISBURG, July 29.—(INS)—The Manufacturers Light and Heat Co., of Pittsburgh, had permission from the public utility commission today to construct a 125-mile gas pipeline in eastern Pennsylvania from Port Jervis to Coatesville.

The utility had sought construction rights to make available to the Home Gas Co., of New York, more gas from Ohio and West Virginia fields without jeopardizing Pittsburgh's supply. The firm also had proposed tapping sources in Kentucky held by the Seaboard Company.

Manufacturers currently supply the New York firm via pipelines running up through western Pennsylvania to Olean, N. Y., and then east along the Pennsylvania-New York border to Port Jervis.

The proposed new line, estimated to cost $5,200,000, will enable the utility to send gas through the eastern and western ends of the state simultaneously, it was explained.

The 14-inch pipeline will trace through Chester, Montgomery, Bucks, Lehigh, Northampton, Monroe and Pike counties.

Manufacturers was given rights-of-way through the counties, but was prohibited from selling gas along the route.

The new line was not expected to be put into use until late in 1948.

The utility's application was approved by a three to two vote, with dissenting opinions filed by Commissioners Harold A. Scragg and Henry Houck, the commission reported.

Bell Collection Crowds Library

QMAROA, Ill.—(INS)—Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Young know the meaning of Edgar Allan Poe's poem about bells. The couple has a collection of them numbering 116.

Mrs. Young started the group in 1934 when she bought a bell in California as a souvenir. A few years later she pursued the hobby in earnest while touring the South.

Her collection now represents 21 states and 13 foreign countries—no two of the bells being alike. The pastor's wife has learned to play several tunes on them, including Christmas carols.

Although they are threatening to crowd out the pastor's library, Rev. Young gracefully yields to his wife's bells.

Saturday afternoon and evening several hundred Universal employees together with their families attended the annual company picnic at Cascade Park.

The afternoon was devoted mostly to the entertainment of the children. Free rides on the various concessions of the park were under the supervision of their mothers and dads. Toward the close of the afternoon bingo in the picnic area was on the program for the adult members of the group, with many useful prizes given out to the luckier individuals.

Picnic Dinner

The picnic dinner was served between 5:30 and 6:30 p. m. During this period Victor Wagner entertained with music.

The sport program events under the able supervision of Herbert Johnson, Clarence Bixler, Anthony Parrott and Samuel Janacone were fully enjoyed by the boys and girls of all ages as well as their elders.

The climax of the sports program occurred when 60 men of the group demonstrated their prowess in a tug of war. As both teams were quite evenly matched, this struggle provided much hilarity.

At the conclusion of the sports program Emery Swogger, general chairman of the picnic, chose a small girl from the crowd to make the drawing for the door prize. The winner of the table model radio was Walter Ewenick.

As a close to the day's entertainment, the group enjoyed a colorful pyrotechnic display put on by a fellow employee, Sam Orrico.

Committee Members

William Frenzel, president of the Universal Athletic association, credited the success of the day to the following able picnic committee members: General chairman, Emery R. Swogger; general committee members: Albert Frey, Carl Klingensmith, Pete Razzano, Dan Carroll, William Frenzel, Anthony Parrott; invitations and registrations: Dan Carroll, Dick Whitaker, Dorothy Anderson, Audrey Casburn, Miriam Hemming; music: William Frenzel; tickets: Emery Swogger and William Frenzel; bingo: Joseph Adams, Carl Klingensmith, Merritt Hammond, Herbert Johnson; sports: Herbert Johnson, Clarence Bixler, Tony Parrott, Samuel Janacone, Pete Razzano; announcer: William Frenzel; refreshments: Fred Alexander; refreshments: Sam Janacone, Paul Lidak, Stanley Krupa, Adolph Miron; table arrangements: William Frenzel, Joseph Malandro, Carl Klingensmith, Emery Swogger; coffee: Joseph Adams, Mrs. Emery Swogger; equipment and transportation: Adolph Miron; fireworks: Sam Orrico.

Blood Pressure Endangers Birth

CLEVELAND—(INS)—High blood pressure, one of the few risks of childbirth which has not yet yielded to medical research, is fast becoming one of motherhood's greatest dangers.

According to Dr. E. W. Page, a member of the American Foundation for High Blood Pressure, pregnancy is often complicated by the sudden appearance of high blood pressure. This, in turn, sometimes progresses to actual convulsions, a disorder known as eclampsia.

One Of Few Risks

Dr. Page, a professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the University of California Medical School, points out that this disease is one of the few risks of motherhood which has not been overcome because the real cause remains obscure.

Jungle Missions Using Telephone, Radio For Links

Bolivia Mission Posts "Going Modern" With Latest Communication Forms

RIBERALTA, Bolivia.—(INS)—Maryknoll's jungle mission in northern Bolivia is going streamlined.

Bishop Alonso Escalante of New York City, the superior, announced recently that he is installing radio-telephone communications between all his major mission posts.

"Need For Communications"

"The installation of modern communications," Bishop Escalante declared, "has been an urgent need here. It was only through the goodness of Providence that Father Hilary Jakowski of Menasha, Wisconsin, was here in Riberalta when he was stricken with acute appendicitis. We were able to rush him to the hospital and save his life. If he had been at one of our remote stations he probably would have been before we even knew he was ill."

Pointing out the immense distances between his mission stations, Bishop Escalante said, "Radio will

"We have bought ten sets," the Bishop said. "We have been able to get all these for only 500 dollars. This is a reasonable price for the convenience and safety they will give. While we haven't the money to pay for them at the moment, since all our funds are tied up in a new hospital, we feel sure the Lord will provide. After all, we're doing his work."

Hughes Denies Explanation Of Senator On Rides

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—(INS)—Howard Hughes today flatly denied Sen. Owen Brewster's explanation of how the latter accepted free air trips from the millionaire plane builder. He called the senator's story "a very amateurish lie."

Hughes documented his statement with quotations from records of the telephone company and from the TWA ticket office in Kansas City. He said these disproved Brewster's assertion that he asked the senator to come to Washington last February 9.

Hughes also defended his wartime entertaining as a necessary business expenditure. The long-distance debate started yesterday when Hughes, in an open letter published in the Los Angeles Examiner, asked the Maine senator why he didn't "tell the whole truth" about the current investigation of the Hughes wartime plane-building contracts. He accused Brewster of having requested and accepted two free airplane rides for which the charter price would have been $1,400.

Brewster, in Washington, promptly denied that he had requested the rides, and said Hughes had offered them.

Fire Handicaps Salvation Army

Request is made for public cooperation with the local Salvation Army in saving their articles to be collected until further notice. The army is greatly handicapped for the time being due to the fire at the Men's Social Service Center and Warehouse of the Salvation Army in Youngstown, O., on Sunday night as their five trucks which were garaged there were destroyed by fire.

These articles usually collected by the Army will be needed more than ever now since 25 men were housed at the center and were burned out. They are being housed temporarily in Cleveland, Ohio.

Tag Shortage Halts Licensing Of Bicycles Here

There were no bicycle examinations today in the Second ward because the registrars ran out of license plates for the "bikes." However, a rush order has been sent to the manufacturer. Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna announced that as soon as the tags arrive a schedule will be announced. Meanwhile, bicyclists can ride and enforcement of the bicycle ordinance, scheduled for August 1 must await licensing of all bicycles.

The city had 750 tags and it was anticipated yesterday that there would be some left for today's proposed examinations in the Second ward. However, the examiners ran out of them, hence 500 more tags have been ordered.

Michigan Vote May Go To Dewey

Governor Stands Chance Of Inheriting 41 Votes If Vandenberg Bows Out

By LEO W. O'BRIEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

OWOSSO, Mich., July 29.—(INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's prospective delegate strength at the 1948 Republican national convention rose again Monday when it was told that Michigan's 41 votes would be for "Vandenberg first—Dewey second."

That means Michigan may cast its votes for its "favorite son," U. S. Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, on the first ballot, or so long as Vandenberg remains in the running, with Dewey the probable beneficiary if Vandenberg steps or drops out of the race.

The New York governor, enjoying a "home town" visit with his mother, Mrs. George M. Dewey, in Owosso, is entirely willing to settle for a "Vandenberg first—Dewey second" disposition of Michigan's delegates.

He already has assurances of backing in other states which presently insure his being far in the lead on the first ballot for the G.O.P. presidential nomination. His main task now, as his supporters see it, is to line up enough reserve strength in states supporting "favorite sons" to corral the nomination on the second or third ballot.

Want Many Candidates
Backers of U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft and of Harold E. Stassen would like to have as many "favorite sons" in the field as possible. They hope that the multiplicity of such candidates will stop a Dewey landslide on the first ballot and enable their candidates to come on in the stretch.

That hope, of course, is based on the belief that Taft or Stassen, rather than Dewey, will get the second choice backing.

Republican State Chairman John A. Wagner of Battle Creek who will confer with Governor Dewey on Wednesday and in Flint Wednesday, said:

"Michigan will vote for Senator Vandenberg on the first ballot, and then the delegation will climb on the Dewey bandwagon."

National Committeeman Arthur E. Summerfield of Flint, Mich., was less positive. He insisted that the state was for Vandenberg all the way and that he was not talking about second choices.

REMOVING HOT HAY MAY PREVENT FIRE

Spontaneous combustion, one of the chief causes of barn fires, can be avoided in most instances with proper precautions.

The storage of partly cured hay in a mow not equipped with a hay finisher is the principal barn fire hazard. Packing under the hay fork can easily develop a hot spot. Good "mowing away" prevents packing.

Good ventilation may solve the hot hay problem, up to 158 degrees Fahrenheit, but above that temperature a breath of air may cause the hay to burst into flames.

The temperature of the hay at the center of the hot spot may be determined by inserting a thermometer in an iron pipe which may be left permanently in place, with the outer end plugged shut with a wad of hay when not in use.

Should the temperature rise to 185 degrees it will need constant watching. In the event it goes up to 195 degrees it will need constant watching and fire fighting equipment should stand by while the hay is being removed.

In removing hot hay, avoid taking chances with the possibility the core of the mow already has disintegrated from the heat, leaving a hole into which workmen could easily fall if taken unawares.

Hot hay, in some instances, has been cooled by spraying with water through a sprayer hose attachment. No more water than necessary to cool the hot spot need be used. Usually most of the hay can be saved.

On many occasions a mist, or fog, under several hundred pounds pressure has proved a satisfactory method for handling fires.

URGE VETERANS TO USE CAUTION IN CASHING BONDS

HARRISBURG, July 29.—(INS)—Former service men were urged Monday by the Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars not to cash terminal leave bonds unless "in actual need of money."

State Commander Frank C. Hilton, of Womelsdorf, pointed out that the securities drew two and a half per cent interest.

"It has been estimated that this congressional action will affect probably nine million men and women, but at the same time it is important to note that the cashing of these bonds is not mandatory—merely optional," Hilton said.

Operating Costs Are Increasing Says Bus Co.

HARRISBURG, July 29.—(INS)—Harry Warshawsky, of New York, controller for the Shenango Valley Transportation Co., of New Castle, told the Public Utility Commission Monday that the bus firm had experienced increased operating costs since April.

He presented testimony during the initial session of a hearing at the state capitol which was expected to conclude the PUC's three-year-old investigation of the reasonableness of the utility's rates.

Warshawsky said the company faced a 10 per cent boost in annual payroll June 1, increases of $4000 a year in gasoline and oil bills, $22,580 in insurance premiums and $300 in tires.

President Samuel Friedman outlined improvements undertaken by the company including purchase of new equipment.

Since 1944 the PUC has been investigating the Utility's New Castle fares; its scrutiny extended back to 1941 on charges in Sharon, Farrell, Sharpsville and Wheatland.

Rates included 10 cents cash fares, sales of eight tickets for 50 cents and unlimited $1 weekly tickets.

Report Oakmont Youth Confesses Slaying Of Boy

PITTSBURGH, July 29.—(INS)—Police Superintendent Harvey Scott Monday said a suburban Oakmont youth had confessed the year-old unsolved slaying of a nine-year-old Pittsburgh boy.

Scott said Raymond Herron, 22, described in detail how he kicked and beat to death little Raymond Howe, Jr., when the boy resisted indecent advances in a dense thicket last July 15.

The body of the boy was not found until August 23 after one of the most intensive searches in many years in Pittsburgh.

Scott said Herron told himself, Homicide Lt. Peter A. Connors and East End Police Inspector John Dean how he met Raymond while both were trying to hitch-hike a ride. Raymond was en route home after swimming.

Herron said, according to Scott, the two were picked up by a motorist, and when they were let out, he told Raymond he could show him a short-cut home.

Horse Shows Are Being Planned In Mercer County

GROVE CITY, July 29.—Grove City and Sandy Lake communities will hold their first horse shows next month, and a colt show is planned for October.

A show is scheduled by the Sandy Lake firemen for next Saturday at Stoneboro Fairgrounds, and the Grove City Saddle Club has set August 16 for its show.

Millbrook Grange has made arrangements for a colt show on October 4. The colt show, only one of its kind in this area, promises to attract a large entry list. It will be held at the grange park which is being improved as this year's project for the organization.

BABY SMOTHERED

PITTSBURGH, July 29.—The coroner's office today termed accidental the unusual death of a five-week-old infant which smothered in its crib in a Pittsburgh home late Monday.

L. Lawrence Maloney, who with other officers went to the home of Mrs. Dorothy Bralier, 23, to answer her frantic call, said there were no blankets in the crib. The child had its arm across its mouth, however, and they theorized it caused its own death.

Police used an inhalator for an hour in an effort to revive the tiny boy, Wayne, and later rushed him to a hospital where physicians also worked over the body.

SEEK ASSAILANT

PITTSBURGH, July 29.—(INS)—Pittsburgh police today sought an assailant who seriously injured Charles E. Gibson, 62, Republican candidate for Allegheny county register of wills, in an attack on a Pittsburgh street.

Gibson told police he was beaten, but not robbed, by the attacker. He suffered severe head lacerations and shock, but was reported recovering in a hospital.

TEXTBOOKS ONLY "KID STUFF" FOR TODAY'S PUPILS

CHICAGO, July 29.—(INS)—Modern textbooks are only kid stuff to today's children.

That is the opinion of Robert H. Seashore, chairman of the psychology department of Northwestern University, who said that children today are a lot smarter than their textbooks which he wants revised sharply upward to keep pace with the pupils' vocabularies.

Seashore declared grade school readers only introduce about 500 new words annually while the children, who nowadays read newspapers and magazines, learn 5,000 new words in that time.

Curtailment Of Liquor Advertising Being Proposed

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(INS)—A senate subcommittee today proposed a ban on liquor advertising that "suggests" that alcoholic beverages promote health, social success or business prestige.

The measure also would prohibit by defining as "misleading"—advertising that pictures any drinking, persons preparing drinks or holding a bottle or has an illustration "appealing especially to children."

Sens. Reed (R) Kan., and Johnson (D) Cal., said they doubted whether the Capper bill, which would ban all liquor advertising, could be enacted.

Recommending the modified version to the full committee, they asked that hearings be conducted early next year.

Extending to radio as well as publications in interstate commerce, the revised bill also would outlaw:

1. Use in liquor advertising of comic strips or children's pets;
2. Picturing of athletes or athletic events; and
3. Reference to any religious holiday or festival.

The bill extends to any beverage containing more than four per cent alcohol by volume.

Scottdale-Claridge; New Kensington-Bessemer Will Play Tonight

Tarentum Erases Groveton 9-4 In Only Game Monday

Walter Farneth Hurls Brilliant Game, Fans 10, As Tarentum Swirlings Win

Ford City Fails To Appear, Now Out Of Tourney, Expect Crowd Tonight

Tarentum Swirlings erased the Groveton team from the National Baseball Congress State tournament being held at Plenary Field by the 9 to 4 route last night in the only game played in the tourney. Ford City failed to appear for their game with Derry Vets and are also eliminated, making three teams with two defeats and out.

Tonight one more team will be rubbed out when Claridge battles Scottdale, with both clubs having met previous defeats. The first game this evening will start at 6:30 o'clock. Claridge is the team that lost to the Bronzes in two tries and Scottdale was upset previously by Derry Vets and later defeated Indianapolis, routing the latter team out of the tourney play.

Bessemer Confident
The feature game on the bill tonight will pit two undefeated clubs Bessemer and New Kensington Local 302 together. Bessemer has an impressive tourney record to date with victories over Indianapolis and Nemacolin. New Kensington has appeared but once, having mobbed Groveton 9 to 1 in the first round.

Manager Jim Martin, genial leader of the Bessemer baseball destinies, has Joe Pepe, Harry Hardesty and "Steamer" Stanley in shape to win this crucial test. Bessemer has made a hit in the tourney to date with a snappy strong hitting club and fine fielding. The edge in tonight's blue-ribbon contest goes to the Bessemerites.

New Kensington cannot be taken lightly by the Bessemer as they have a powerful hitting club and are leaders in their section. The Aluminers will be in there pitching with all they have to dump Bessemer if they can.

A red-hot battle can be expected by the fans who will wend their way into Plenary Field for the unfolding of the night's card. Practically all of Bessemer will be here tonight for the game as the Cemenenters have a grand following of rabid dyed-in-the-wool fans.

Too Much Farneth
There was too much Walter Farneth to suit the Groveton team last night, the stout Walter taking the hill for the Swirlings pitched a beautiful game, fanning ten batters and walking four as he scattered seven hits over the route. Only one Groveton got a hit other than a single, and that was a triple poked out by M. Nossel in the ninth.

Tarentum went to work on young Mr. Barnowski in the first inning and soon had the youngster on the bench in favor of Porti, who finished. The Swirlings batted like "Giants" in the first heat to stick out six runs and practically put the game in the refrigerator right then and there. The Tarentumians had six runs on five hits and three errors.

Heavy Hitting
With a six-run lead Farneth became tighter than a drum head and started to pour them in. Supporting Farneth in his fine hurling efforts were Weber, Pellegrini, Wagner, Lawrence with extra-base hits, all of the solid variety.

Barnes, Mike Nosal and Fisher did the best Groveton club-work, with two blows apiece.

Five Undefeated Teams
There are five undefeated teams in the tourney, as this piece is written—Johnson Bronze, Bessemer, New Kensington, Wilkes-Barre and Pittston.

The following teams have been erased from the tourney—Indianapolis, Groveton, Ford City, and Snook.

The following teams all defeated once remain in the loser's bracket—Nemacolin, Scottdale, Claridge, Derry Vets, Tarentum.

The tourney will be continued every day it doesn't rain until two teams remain to play for the championship.

BROTHERS TRAINS FOR MICATROTTE

Gibbons Has Chance To Even Up With LaGrew; Bell In Training

Al Micatrotte, heavyweight, who holds a university degree, is training in Cleveland for his three round battle August 8, with Elkins Brothers, local kazo artist, of this city.

Micatrotte had Guy Eliseo in a bad way July 14, and believes he is capable of stemming the victorious tide of Brothers who apparently is a natural puncher. Guy Eliseo will box Sal Brunello of Cleveland.

Another Cleveland, Lionel LaGrew, 138 pounder, is also in training for his second bout with Chuck Gibbons, Ellwood City's 145-pounder.

However, there were some among the big audience at Plenary field who held that Gibbons deserved the decision and Gibbons now has his chance to even up the count.

Champ Starts Training
Meanwhile Bobby Bell, flashy boxer, who never stops throwing punches from bell to bell, but just how he will make out against classy Featherweight Champion Ted Pittipaldo remains to be seen.

The boxing show held July 14 at Plenary field was one of the most successful ever held in New Castle and the eight bouts promise to be even better, if that is possible.

Dukes Nose Out West Pittsburgh

Score Is 8 To 7 As J. Cook Bats In Winning Run With Long Fly Ball In Fifth

Those unpredictable Duca D'Abuzzi clouters did it again, turning the West Pittsburgh "Gas House Gang" back last night at Cascade street field 8 to 7 with a thud in a city league postponed affair. J. Cook not only did the pitching but the batting as well, being his long fly in the fifth frame that sent the winning tally over the platter.

West Pittsburgh began with Lazar and ended with R. Attison on the hill and they took a 10-hit clubbing led by Pia with a triple, and two singles each by Apicelli, Elgin, R. Coulter and F. Cook. J. Cook gave ten hits also, but bore down in the latter innings after the West Pittsburghers had opened with a four-run attack.

A. Markey Homers
The Dukes batted six runs in for their efforts in the first inning and took the lead never giving up. Amil Markey featured the game with a terrific home run clout together with two singles.

Quite a large crowd witnessed the game and cheered lustily as the Dukes emerged victors in the heated battle.

Dodgers-Cards Start Series

Dodgers Hope To Increase Lead In Crucial Series With Rampaging Cards

By LES CONKLIN
(International News Service Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, July 29.—The pressure will be strictly on the Cardinals in the three-game series between the world's champions and the Brooklyn Dodgers which gets under way at St. Louis tonight.

With Brooklyn boasting a lead of seven full games, the series hardly can be called crucial. The Red Birds are faced with the necessity of taking all three games to gain any appreciable ground on the Dodgers, who have won 10 in a row, the longest winning streak of the year in the National League.

Pitchers Ready
Brooklyn will throw pitchers Harry Taylor, Ralph Branca and Vic Lombardi at the cards. Taylor, current "stopper" of the Dodgers, probably will draw Little Murry Dickson as his opponent tonight.

The Cardinals pulled a tough one out of the fire yesterday thanks to two catchers, Del Rice and Joe Garagiola.

Rice's three-run homer in the eighth tied the score after two-run homer by Earl Torgeson and Tommy Holmes had sparked the Boston Braves to what apparently was a winning lead. Then Garagiola's pinch single with two out in the ninth gave St. Louis an 8 to 7 decision.

Dodgers Trim Cubs

The Dodgers were sorry to part from the Chicago Cubs, whom they have beaten 10 straight times. Joe Hatten, who held the Bruins to three hits yesterday in blanking them 4 to 0, had defeated them eight times in succession.

Johnny Vander Meer, who had lost five straight, threw a six-hit, 5 to 0 shutout at the slugging New York Giants, who failed to get a home run for the first time in 16 games.

Yanks Pad Lead
Competition in the American league was restricted to two night games. The New York Yankees increased their lead over the idle Boston Red Sox to 10 full games by beating Prince Hal Newhouse, 5 to 1, for the fourth time in five tries this season.

Night ball is holding the Tigers back. They have played five games under the arc lights on their current road trip, and lost them all. The fourth-place Philadelphia Athletics closed in on the Tigers by downing the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 3.

Pirates Playing To Record Crowds, But Are Not Winning

PITTSBURGH, July 29.—(INS)

—And still those fans keep coming! The Pittsburgh Pirates, who plummeted into the National League basement on their first eastern trip of the season, today looked back on attendance figures that eclipsed last season's total, and they looked forward to a new season record at the turnstiles within a few days.

They don't know why the fans keep pouring in, but they smile every time they count the receipts—and aren't worried about the standings.

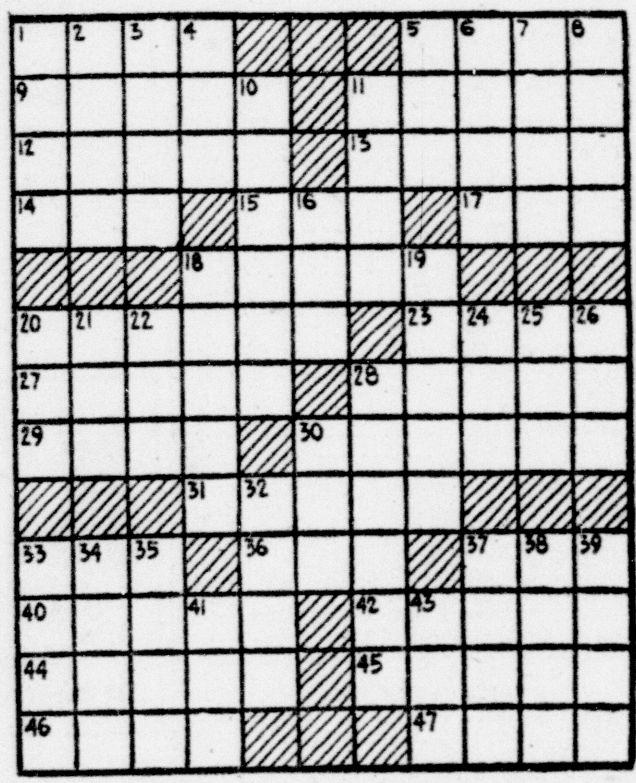

The paid admissions at Forbes field after Sunday's doubleheader with Brooklyn totaled 797,084 for 42 games. Last year in 77 games, 759,952 paid to watch the Bucs.

There still are 36 games left to play in Pittsburgh—the extra game because of a tie game called by Pennsylvania's Sunday curfew.

And right now, the Pirate turnstiles are only 72,646 short of the all-time attendance record of 869,720 set in 1927, when the Bucs won their last pennant.

Seek Third Bout Between Zale, Rocky

CHICAGO, July 29.—(INS)—Chicago sports promoter Harry Hannin today awaited reaction from New York on his offer to Middleweight Champion Rocky Graziano for a third Graziano-Tony Zale fight in Chicago.

Hannin telegraphed Graziano's managers guaranteeing a minimum gross gate of $500,000 for such a title rematch.

The Chicagoan told Rocky's co-manager, Irving Cohen, to designate the percentage the champion would demand from the half-million dollars. Hannin offered to put the titleholder's cut in escrow immediately.

Hannin said he would stage the fight either in Wrigley field or Comiskey park next spring.

Court House
Candidates Get
Ballot Places
Drawing Is Conducted At Court House On Monday
For Places On Ticket

OTHER NEWS OF
COURT HOUSE

At best, running for political office is a gamble, but drawing for position upon the ballot is a game of pure luck. And the gamble is conducted legally by William A. Eakin, chief clerk of the Board of Elections.

Monday morning Mr. Eakin conducted the drawing of candidates for ballot position and as usual first place was the one sought for by all the candidates who appeared. Many did not appear at all preferring Mr. Eakin to have it done for them.

County Commissioner Karl T. Rohrer pulled the names of all those not present.

In the race for the Republican nomination for mayor Earl R. Wimer, presently a county commissioner drew pill number 12. Mayor John P. Haven, his opponent drew number thirteen, which gives Mr. Wimer first place upon the ballot.

For city council D. O. Davies drew first place, Richard I. Davis drew second place, Joseph DeRobbio third place and Albert A. Hoyland, fourth place.

B. N. Hanlon is unopposed for the Republican nomination for city treasurer. For school board there are three candidates for three positions. They drew as follows: Alec Samuels, Dr. William Flannery and Dr. W. Fulton Jackson.

For county treasurer Thomas C. Edmunds will be first upon the ballot and Donald I. Neal, second, for the Republican nomination. Prothonotary John A. Edgar drew first place for the Republican nomination and W. Henry Wettich, second. For the Republican nominations for county commissioner, W. Francis McCracken drew first, Harvey B. Bush, second, M. B. Hogue, third, Joseph Gilmore, fourth, William J. Reynolds, fifth and M. M. Ingham, sixth.

For coroner, Charles E. Allen drew first place for the Republican nomination.

nation, Gerald O. Brown, second, Edward DeCarbo, third and Charles E. Patterson, fourth.

For county controller Harry O. Falls drew first place for the Republican nomination and Andrew M. Dadds, second.

Outearns Boss;
Plans To Start
Own Store Chain

MARION, Ill., July 29.—(INS)—Harry Bracy, who made five times as much money as his boss last year, is going into business for himself.

Bracy, who retired as Southern Illinois manager for the Kroger Grocery Company last Jan. 15, today was busy planning the opening of a new chain of retail grocery and meat markets in six Southern Illinois cities—Benton, Marion, Johnson City, West Frankport, Flora and Salem.

In 1931 Bracy, who started his business career at the age of 10 as a helper in his father's bakery at a stipend of $1 a week, sold his chain of 36 stores to the Kroger Company.

Under the terms of the sale he was to remain as manager, under a bonus arrangement based on sales.

The SEC recently announced that Bracy's 1946 income from Kroger was $380,000. The company's president's income for '46 was $72,000.

Bracy said today that he was bored by his retirement, that he would have his new stores open for business in 60 days, and that his plans include expansion to a chain of 35 or 40 stores.

Nearly 41,000 On Mercer Voter Lists
MERCER, July 29.—Mercer County will have nearly 41,000 voters registered for the September primary election.

While new registrations hit the 4,000 mark this year, many names have been taken from the permanent lists since the 1946 election. Some 7,000 voters were notified earlier in the year that because they failed to vote at any election the last two years they must notify the election board of their intentions to remain eligible.

It is estimated that 3,000 failed to keep their names on the vote lists.

TENANTS SIGNING NEW LEASES MUST STICK TO CONTRACT
PITTSBURGH, July 29.—(INS)—Pittsburgh area tenants Monday had a warning from David R. Levin, chief area rent attorney, that those signing rent-raising lease must be prepared to carry out the contract.

"They must not expect the rent office to rescue them," Levin said.

Levin pointed out that signing of 15 per cent increased rent leases, allowed under the rent control law, must be voluntary. He added:

"Tenants have the right to negotiate for a lesser increase, or to refuse to accept any increase, and will be protected in their occupancy by the housing and rent act of 1947 until February 29, 1948."

He said that in case where the tenant did not believe the increase warranted, they did not have to sign. In such cases, the rent office will aid both parties in reaching an agreement.

When flower plants revert to earlier types and do not produce the type of blossoms expected of the variety, seed growers call them "rogues."
